Absolute Power of the Clerk of the Lower House.

STATES STATUTES.

But Little Provision is Made in the Constitution for the Organization of the House, and the Laws Are Singularly Defective-Circular From the Inaugural

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 .- A dispatch from Washington says:

The officials of the house of representatives have renewed their confidence in the belief that the Democrats will organize the next house of representatives. The somewhat sensational suggestions which are made as to what may happen if the clerk of the present house shall place upon the roll of the next house the names of members who, in the opinion of some Republicans, were not the public to another weak spot in our governmental system.

The authority for the organization of the house is not found in the constitution of the United States, save in the general provision that each house shall be the judge of the election, returns and qualifications of its owa members. Under this general power the usage has grown up, which is embodied in part, at least, in a statute that the organization of the house is placed absolutely within the power and the discretion of the clerk of the house of the preceding congress. The specific authority under which the clerk of the house prepares the roll upon which the succeeding house is organized is found in rule 3, paragraph 1 of the body of the rules of the house. The provision is:

"The clerk shall, at the commencement of the first session of each congress, call the members to order, proceed to call the roll of members, by states, in alphabetical order, and, pending the election of a speaker, or speaker pro tempore, preserve order and decorum and decide all questions of order, subject to appeal by any member."

Rule 2 of the house provides that the clerk and the other officers of the house shall con tinue in office until their successors are chosen and qualified. The revised statutes (Section 31) prescribe the duty of the clerk of the house with respect to the roll of the members of the next house. That section

"Before the first meeting of each congress, the clerk of the next preceding house of representatives shall make the roll of the representatives-elect, and place thereon the names of those persons, and of such persons only, whose credentials show that they were regularly elected in accordance with the laws of their states respectively, or the laws of the United States."

In the event of the death or disability of the clerk, the dusies are devolved in succes-We the undersigned Banks and Bankers will soon upon the sergeant ar arms, and, in case Judge Rankin, the famous criminal lawyer of his death or disability, upon the door of Ohio, and came of a family famous for its feries which may be presented at our counters.

If it should happen that the cierk, sergeat-at-arms and doorkeeper of any house should all die, or be disabled from any cause, at the time of the meeting of the suc ceeding congress, there is no provision whatever for the organization of the succeeding

> In case of a vacancy which occurred in the office of clerk during the Tuirty-first congress, it was decided that the house could take no action upon or transact any other business until a clerk was elected. But it does not appear that a vacancy has nappened in this office prior to the meeting of a congress. The power of the clerk is not only absolute as to the roll, but according to the precedents established by Republicans, the house itself is without any power to amend the roll.

> Since the organization of the house of rep resentatives of the Thirty-eighth congress the clerk has uniformly declined to enter tain motions or resolutions to amend the roll of representatives, which section 31, revised statutes requires him to make, and has further declined to entertain appeals from such decisions. This appears very fully from the decision by Mr. Edward McPnerson in the proceedings in the organization of the house first session, Forty-first congress. March 4. 1869. The same position was reaffirmed by Clerk Adams, Democrat.

In this last instance the clerk declined to entertain the appeal, on the ground that it was not competent for the representatives elect to instruct the clerk in the performance of a duty imposed upon him by law, and for the further reason that a question of nigher privilege was then pending, i. e., the election of speaker, on which the previous question had been ordered. In case duplicate certificates shall be sent to the clerk of the house from dual state governments, that officer is the sole judge as to which certificates he will place upon the roll, and, once upon the roll, it appears to be discretionary with him whether he will recognize any suggestions from the house as to amendments. According to the precedents which have been established, the cierk has the arbitrary power to force an organization of the house upon a roll the integrity of which may be questioned by the whole body of the representatives-elect. The clerk of the house, in short, seems to be the only officer of the United States who is absolute, from whose decision there is no appeal, who owes no allegiance to any one, the body which created him having passed out of existence at the time of the organization of the succeeding house. And there is no means of correcting the results of the roll which be may present, except by the subsequent action of the house, as to the membership of which he is himself the sole

He is, to be sure, required to pass upon the certificates in a judicial capacity, to determine whether they are in accordance with the laws of the states, or of the United States; but, if he shall exercise his authority in an unlawful or arbitrary manner, there is no remedy provided, except for the house itself, by action likewise arbitrary, to reverse his decress.

Internal Revenue. WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 .- The annual report of Joseph S. Miller, commissioner of internal revenue, has been given out Sunday night. It is for the year ending June 30. The receipts from all sources are put down at $124,326,475, or something in excess of his estimate. His estimate of receipts for the current year is the same unless some changes are made in the present rate of taxation, The cost of collection was $3,978,283, being 8.2 per cent. of the amount collected, against A FLAW DISCOVERED IN THE UNITED 8.4 per cent. in 1887. He estimates the ex penses of the service for the next year at $4, 135, 280.

It will also facilitate the assignment of organizations who may wish to take place in the procession, and will furnish a directory to the location of all strangers or organizations temporarily present in the city."

> Soldiers at the Inauguration. WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 .- The inauguration fund amounts to nearly $40,000. It is estimated that there will be 20,000 soldiers present when Harrison takes his seat. A contingent of Pennsylvania National Guards, under command of Gen. Hartranft, will par-

> > War on Bribers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 .- The Tribune follows the Mail and Express in exposing the treachery of the Republican leaders in various assembly districts of New York city. "How shall trading and selling out be eradicated? is the prevailing question of the party papers. The World is engaged in writing the history of the phenomenal boodle campaign in Indiana, Michigan and New York. "One thousand bribers and bribe takers," it says, "will come to grief at the hands of the United States district attorney in Gen. Harrison's own state."

Congressman Ford, of Michigan, says the people have passed through the most corrupt campaign ever known.

Carl Rankin Dead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 .- Carl Rankin, the comedian, who, until the beginning of this year, was one of the leading members of the Dockstader company, died of consumption Sunday at his mother's home in Philadelphia. Carl Rankin was thirty years old. He was an end man. He was the son of musical talent. He was born in Columbus. O., and had been a member of the theatrical profession nearly all his life. Last summer the actors and reporters of this city played a game of base ball at the polo grounds for his benefit, and the receipts netted $900.

Blown Up With Dynamite. TROY, Nov. 27 .- At Thompson's mills late Saturday afternoon, six men, constructing a mill, were seated around a stoveeating dinner. BERLIN, Nov. 27 .- The afertthought upon Emperor William's speech has produced a very depressing effect, to which the bourse has responded, and from which it has not yet recovered. It is construed to afford little hope of peace since the emperor could give no assurance that Russia and France do not contemplate war, to which their armaments gives testimony, as well as the loans being effected by the former.

The new Roumanian cabinet, as announced on Saturday evening, is not encouraging, since Gen. Mano, minister of war; M. Lahovary, minister of commerce, and M. Catargi, president of the chamber of deputies, are all Russophiles, having no sympathy with Austria or the triple alliance. Although these are appointed with the express understanding that they will not interfere with the foreign policy of M. Caspi, the foreign minister, who adheres to Austria, yet the necessity for so great a concession on the part of King Charles to the Russian element is discouraging. Gen. Mano wants a cessation of the construction of frontier forts destined to oppose a Russian advance.

Relief for Emin.

BERLIN, Nov. 27 .- Fifty members of the Emin relief committee held a meeting in the lower house of the landtag Sunday. Dr. Peters presided. The real purpose of the expedition is not the relief of Emin Bey, but as hinted, an effort to obtain a hold of the interior as against England, in whose interest Stanley is doubtless effecting organization in the interior, probably assisted by Emin Bey.

The French Patriotic League. Paris, Nov. 27 .- Gen. Boulanger was the lion Sunday at a meeting of the Patriotic league. Following the banquet he made a LONDON, Nov. 27 .- High winds are reported all along the coast. The British ship Duncan has stranded on the Break banks. The crew was rescued. The Clyde has over flowed its banks. Several factories at Pollokshaws were, on Saturday, inundated by the overflow of the river Cart, and the female workers were rescued through windows and conveyed in carts to dry ground.

The Pope's Paper.

ROME. Nov. 27 .- It is said that the pope is to have a journal of his own, which is to be a popalar penny paper, taking its views on both politics and religion from the Vatican. He has given 1,500,000 francs for the purpose, and fifty copies of the first edition will be sent to every parish priest in Italy for distribution.

It was dug up and found to contain $800 of the missing money, the remainder having been squandered by Congressional Contest.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 27 .- The state board of commissioners Saturday heard the argument of attorneys for Creed T. Bates and H. Clay Evans, parties to the Third congressional district contest. Both parties now demand the decision on the face of the returns, the question being narrowed down to "What properly constitutes the returns." It is not known when a decision will be reached. The delay in deciding the question is beginning to be generally commented on.

In German botels you come to contact only with the porter and head waiter. The porter is usually selected for his intelligence, for his ability as a linguist and for his size-his height, rather. You make all inquiries of him concerning the hotel, about the arrival and departure of trains, the sights of the town, etc., and you invariably get civil and intelligent replies to all your questions. The so called porter (portier), however, in no sense corresponds with the American idea of a porter, nor is he called upon to do the slightest physical labor. He receives guests, sees them depart and makes himself very useful in many ways, but as for lifting a trunk or carrying a sachel, this is entirely beneath his position and his dignity. The actual porter performs this labor, and both of these officials expect and receive a fee on the guest's departure. In paying your bill at a German hotel you see neither proprietor, manager nor porter; neither will receive it; you are coliged to pay the waiter, who thus

OUR opinion is still as strong as ever that Republican "boodle" had more to do with Democratic defeat in New York than anything else. In fact recent developments serve to show that Quay's corruption fund was the largest ever thrown into a political contest. It is a disgraceful state of affairs. As long as the result hinges on the vote of one or two States "boodle" will down principles and t'e "floater" will decide who shall rule the nation. The Mail and Express complains that this money purchased "only about 1,355 votes." There had been negotiations for the delivery of the Coogan vote, the James O'Brien protection Democratic vote and the John J. O'Brien vote. "The Coogan movement promised," says the Mail and Express, "29,000 more votes than it delivered; the James O'Brien movement promised 10,000 more than it delivered. and the John O'Brien movement kept its word pretty well for Harrison, miserably for Miller and not at all for Ernhardt. The advent of the American girl in English society at first was a curiosity. It soon became a portent. It is now assuming the dimensions of a menace. Before long it will be a recognized calamity. Of all forms of competition there is none so deadly as this. We can stand our farmers being ruined by American corn, we can listen unmoved to the wail of the graziers made bankrupt by the influx of American beef, but the American girl is too much. Already we hear the murmur of the cry of the drawing-room, the er who sees, season after season, American girls swoop down upon the most GENERAL HARRISON gets the Presidency eligible partners and cut our native girls out before the eyes of their distracted parents. > THE editor of the "In-and-about-the State" column of the Courier-Journal, in commenting on Professor Kappes' address at the recent celebration of the birthday of the poet Schiller, says:

It is not altogether certain that the Profes sor's remarks are not almost as applicable today as the time to which he refers. The "Kentuckian," which term excludes the educated German who brings with him his accomplishments and his tastes, has not made great advances into the mysteries of Schiller and Goethe, at least has not read them in the sense of mastering profoundly their spirit and purpose, without which, all reading is valueless. However, it is pleasing to detect spots as at Maysville, where a broad and earnest spirit of culture is manifesting itself. While Kentucky is striding on in the path of material enhancement, the public gratitude is due those who strive ardently to encourage a corresponding mental and moral growth.

Oddfellows': Hall: Clothing: House.

We commence this sale to-day, and will continue it until the entire stock is closed out. We need not mention that such an opportunity to buy Clothing, Tailoring Goods and Gent's Furnishings, all of the highest and best grades, at an imperative sale rarely presents itself. .

We have everything arranged in such a manner that everybody can be waited on. Goods will be marked in plain figures, one price only, terms strictly cash.

As the stock is a very large one and the Administrator is anxious to close it out as soon as possible, ALL GOODS WILL BE SOLD AT THE PRICE THEY ARE APPRAISED. As most everyone in this part of the State has knowledge of the class of goods Hechinger & Co. carry, it is unnecessary to enumerate any of them. Merchants can here find an opportunity to make profitable investments.

WIFTEEN OF A CREW OF SIX!EEN MEN ARE DROWNED.

Mineteen Barges Out of a Tow of Twenty-One Sunk in Lower New York Bay By a Heavy Gale-The Crews Narrowly Es cape Drowning-Fierce Snow Storms lu the Eastern States.

SCITUATE, Mass., Nov. 27 .- The large fishing schooner, Edward Norton, from Boston, went ashore on First Cliff Point at 6:30 Sunday night and immediately went to pieces. Out of a crew of sixteen men, tifteen were drowned. One man named Allen clung to the vessel, and when the tide left her in the morning, he succeeded in reaching the

The vessel was discovered by the midnight patrol of the life saving station, but too late to render assistance. She lies bottom up and is a complete wreck. She is owned by States & Company, of Boston.

Nineteen Barges Sunk.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. - One of the most disastrous accidents which has ever occurred to a tow of barges in the vicinity of New York happened about 2 o'clock Sunday morning in the lower bay. The old side wheel steamer Bordentown had the barges in tow. There were twenty-one in all, and coal-laden, except one, which was laden with grain. The tow was en route from Bergen Point to this city.

When off Robbins' reef the gale struck it. The waves mounted the decks of the barges. and water filled their holds. In a short time some of them began to settle. On board the barges were thirty four persons, consisting of their captains, wives and families. When the barges began to settle there was a wild scramble for life, but all succeeded in reaching the decks of the Bordentown in safety by jumping from one barge to the other.

In the midst of it all the stearing gear of the Bordentown became disarranged. Her captain whistled for assistance, and the steamer was taken in tow, and together with two of the barges was brought in safety to the Fort. Hamilton dock. The other nineteen barges went to the bottom. Some of them were quiet new and were valued at from $4,000 to $5,000.

They were owned principally by their captains and had on board 250 to 450 tons of coal each. Some of the coal was consigned to New Haven. The greater part of it belonged to Stickney & Conyham, No. 1 Broadway. The total loss is estimated at over $100,000.

Shipping Interests Damaged.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 .- The storm in the harbor caused some damage to shipping. Fifteen canal boats were sunk. It is be-lieved no lives were lost. The storm extended down the coast to Charleston. The bark Moro Castle, with coal, was wrecked on the Delaware breakwater and several other vessels are beached there. No loss of life is reported there. The gale took away part of the iron pier at Atlantic City and damaged the property along the beach. A heavy snow fell at Wilkesbarre and in the neighboring mountains. A high wind prevailed along the Hudson and the ferries and other vessels had much trouble. It was the are prospects of a strike on the Southern Paworst November gale on the river in years. cific railway system, from ocean to ocean. The storm was heavy in the Mohawk valley. Boats on the Delaware and Hudson canal and the Erie canal were laid up.

More Vessels Ashore-Five Lives Lost. Boston, Nov. 27 .- The schooner Avelon, (British) from St. John, N. B., for New York, with a cargo of laths, dragged ashore on Spectacle island, during the storm Sunday. The vessel lies easy and will probably float when the weather moderates. The guilt. Avelon experienced terrible weather in the bay, during which three of the crew were washed overboard and lost.

The schooner Cox and Green, of Greenport, from Philadelphia, is ashore, and is reported to have bilged. The schooner Bertha Walker, of Fall River, from Philadelphia, is ashore at Hull. Capt. Westgate and the first mate are reported to be lost. The schooner Gertrude Abbott, of Philadelphia, istalso ashore here.

Freight Cars Blown Off the Track.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 27 .- A heavy storm prevailed all day Sunday, doing considerable damage in the harbor. The waves at Portland headlight reached higher than ever before except in the great storm of last winter. No vessels have been sighted at the head since Sunday morning. Many were seen running for shelter late Saturday night. There is great alarm for the safety of the fishing fleet. Communication with the interior is mostly cut off, and it is only known that the gale along the Grand Trunk was severe. Two freight cars were blown off the track at one point.

The Forfress of the Future.

Well, in our day, the military engineer recommends, not the vitrified rockwork, which he knows not how to make, but beton, which is analogous to it. In historic times, during the long period styled antiquity, fortifled inclosures had a profile of considerable dimensions. The obstacle consisted of a wall which was no less than from sixty to ninetyfive feet in thickness. The scarps of Nineveh, for example, and those of Babylon, were more than eighty-five feet. Why did ancient engineers adopt such dimensions, which now a pear to us so huge? Because it was necessary to oppose a great resistance to the action of demolishing apparatus, especially to that of the battering ram.

Well, in our day, the military engineer who is embarrassed by the firing of shells containing a breaking charge would have to have recourse to such thicknesses. If he does not decide to do so, one of the reasons is that the marvels of modern industry permit him to substitute for masonry masses of metal baving the same resistance with less thickness. Then it has been found that beton and a shells containing a breaking charge-such as that these two elements of construction should be able to suffice the engineer. That being the case, it is evident that the forts that it is necessary to construct cannot any more resemble those that now constitute the defenses of our frontiers than the latter resemble the strong castles of the middle ages. -La Nature.

She Mentioned Her Poem.

The glided into the office and quietly approached the editor's desk.

"I have written a poem"-she began. "Well!" exclaimed the editor with a look and tone intended to annihilate, but she wouldn't annihilate worth a cent, and resumed:

"I have written a poem on 'My Father's Barn,' and"-

"Oh!" interrupted the editor with extraordinary snavity, "you don't know how relieved I feel. A poem written on your father's barn, eh? I was afraid it was written on paper and that you wanted me to publish it. If I should ever happen to drive past your father's barn I'll stop and read the poem. Good afternoon, miss."—Detroit Free
